Removal

Hi All, I am going to remove this build blog, I should not have posted it in the beginning as I had intended to write an article for Model Boats magazine, something that is still years away. I am very sorry if this causes any upset at all, though I hope you may understand that I didn't have a real intention to do the blog, it sort of flowed on from some other messages without me really considering all angles, something that is not normally the way I operate. I hope you will all understand, I would like to have the story printed. Happy model boating and stay on coarse! Cheers, Stephen.
