Norfolk Keel

Well its taken about a month mailing lots and lots of e-mail's I now have plans of a Norfolk Keel from @norfolk.gov.uk named "Dee Dar" built about 1790 and was reshaped twice and sunk 1890 she was 54ft 55ft and about 18ft wide with a 3ft hull

Plans

well plans enlarged and drawn but looks like i might have to redraw them as they don't look right i just wonder if the plans i have might be as the ship was found and not built so will tweek the plans remember she sat for about 100 years as a bank support filled with dirt/sand/stone

2 types of Keels

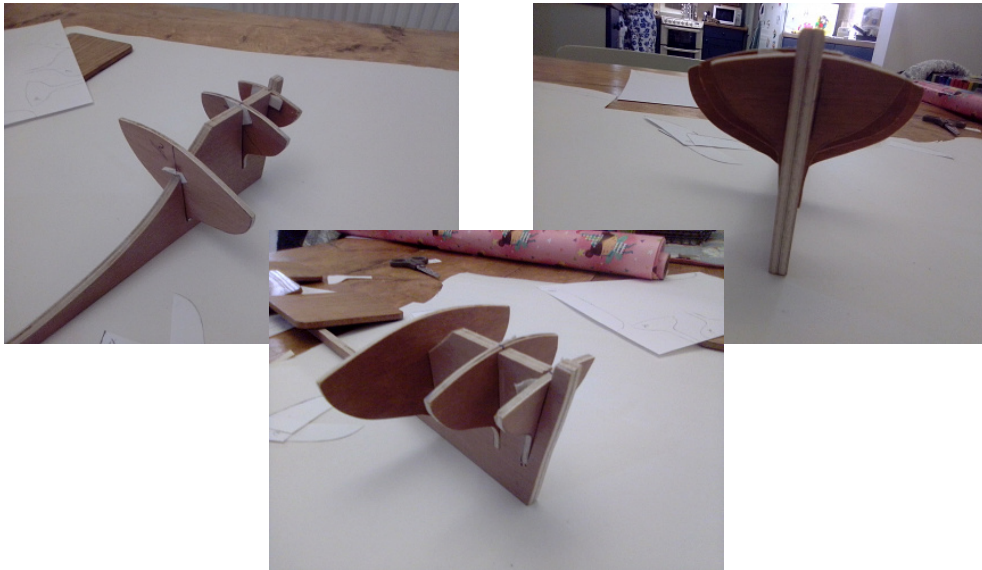

Norfolk keel and a Humber keel totally different in size and shape so unable to use

24th Feb 2021

build started

well I have started first build using off cuts of 1/8 ply to see if the plans work out and I can correct modify them if needed

square sail

what's the best shape for a single square sail let the debate begin A or B as this will be fitted on the Norfolk Keel or both and let the wind decide under test conditions
